Hundreds of miners rushed to the scene and tried to get into the air shaft, but this was impossible, as flames and smoke were coming up that way with such force as to drive them back. Then an effort was made to operate the cages running up and down the hoisting hoisting shafts, but it was found that the cages, the cables and the guides had been burned. There was absolutely no help for the imprisoned miners.

Large Parties of Miners Seeking Companions.

Haleyville, Okla., Aug. 26.-Late tonight the bodies of twenty-eight miners suffo-cated in the Haley-Oklahoma mine had been recovered, and it is believed ten more remained in the smoking pit.

The work of rescue continues, and a determined fight is being made to reach all determined fight is being made to reach all parts of the mine in the hope that the bodies of the missing men may be found in some of the deeper workings of the missing men may be found in some of the deeper workings of the reforms to the Republican candidate, but I am the next of the blood of the reform and they come to me. The fire and explosion started almost 300 feet from the surface and as the flames ate their way back into the mine a dense cloud of smoke and fire spouted from the shoft. News of the fire quickly spread among the families of the men who had gone down for the morning shift, and soon the shaft house was surrounded by a piteous crowd of foreigners, the wives and children of he imprisoned men. Hastily an effort was made to reach the suffering men, but not until after twelve hours of an incessant and heart rending struggle was the fire sufficiently under control for the rescuers to enter the mine. The dead bodies were found a short distance from the scene of the explosion, which had occurred at the bottom of the hoisting shaft, and it was evident the unfortunate men had barely time to retreat a short distance before overcame them. Salem, Ill., Aug. 26 .- No crowd of such size or enthusiasm ever turned out in this city, the birthplace of William Jennings Bryan, as that of today when the Democratic candidate stopped over to greet his old friends and neighbors: The whole population was up and on hand early to extend a hearty welcome when Mr. Bryan

Twenty-five dead bodies were brought out tonight, following a successful three hours' battle with the flames. It is believed that six or eight more will be lican reforms.

The principal event was a speech by Mr. Bryan from a platform in the courthouse grounds, in which he appealed to the "Roosevelt Republicans" to support the Democartic ticket because, he said, they could not hope for a realization of the promised reforms of their party. Mr. Taft, he said, was not the heir to Republican reforms.

At His Birthplace.

During the day Mr. Bryan divided most of his time with the Bryan and Jennings branches of his family. After luncheon the men met death by burning, but that all of them were suffocated.
